

Humanities

This summer will you be...

- a rising junior or senior?
- interested in history, literature, philosophy, anthropology, political science, economics, sociology, psychology or media?
- taking challenging courses and getting good grades?

The Summer Residential Governor's School for Humanities program is a free residential summer experience on the campus of Radford University. It offers an enriching, intellectual experience that stimulates gifted students to use their imaginations, and to think more creatively and productively.

As a student, you will:

- explore how modern society requires, encourages, and restricts individuals as they seek realization of their creative potential
- obtain a better understanding of yourself, your future roles, and the effect of your voice on society and the world through reading, discussion, seminars, and lectures
- experience writing activities, group projects, and guest speakers which will integrate knowledge from many disciplines to a greater extent than is typically found in traditional educational programs

Applications are now being accepted. Selection is competitive.
